Submission of a "bone dry" amendment to the constitution will be insisted upon at the next session of the general assembly by Gov. Stanley he said in a letter to Dr. W. B. Bannon, of Stanford, that "loyal emigrants who have hitherto disagreed on this controverted question are now united in an earnest desire to have it finally determined." The letter was made public simultaneously with a statement from A. J. Alexander, head of the Democratic Forward League, denying that the league is being used to elect an assembly hostile to the administration, and charging that Gov. Stanley has "publicly declared that he would oppose any dry amendment when submitted."

Against Free Advertising. Opposition to free advertising and publicity by newspapers of the country was voiced by speakers at the convention of the National Editorial Association at Minneapolis. Appointment of a field secretary of the association to conduct a campaign against free advertising was recommended by one of the delegates.

U. S. WILL MAKE WAITING LIST

First Numerals Selected Will Call Men Into the Army Of September.

9,800,000 AWAIT THE CALL
Each Numeral Will Designate More Than 4,000 Men For Service.

Washington, July 13.—Drawing of lots for the selective draft not only will determine what men are to be called to the colors in the first war army, but will show in what order the others registered will be liable for service when later armies are organized. It was revealed that a plan of drawing will be followed under which a definite place in the waiting lists will be given every one of the millions who registered. Those standing at the head of the list in each county or city district will be called first before the examination boards and then the obligation will pass on down the line as long as men are needed. This does not mean that a separate name or number will be drawn for everyone of the country's 9,800,000 registrants. In fact every number drawn under the theory of the plan, will represent more than 4,000 men, one for each of the registration districts.

THE SELECTION PLAN.
Details of the system have not been made public, but an outline of its principal features follows:

Every registration board has numbered the cards in its possession in red ink, beginning at number 1 and continuing to a number corresponding with the total in the district.

At the drawing numbers will be used ranging from number 1 up to a number corresponding to the total in the largest district of the country.

The first number drawn will determine what man in each district is to be taken first. If it be number 10, for example, it will mean that the man in each district holding local card number 10 will be called for examination before any of the other men in that district.

The second number drawn will determine what man in each district is to be taken second, and so on as long as men are needed. Those not needed for the first war army will retain their positions on the lists and these positions will determine the order of their liability when they are needed. EACH LEARNS THE ORDER OF HIS ABILITY.

The drawing will be public and each number will be announced as it is drawn. At the offices of most local exemption boards the red ink numbers of the registrants already are posted, so that registrants may inform themselves before hand of their respective numbers. If they do, as soon as word of the drawing comes they will know just what order of liability they stand.

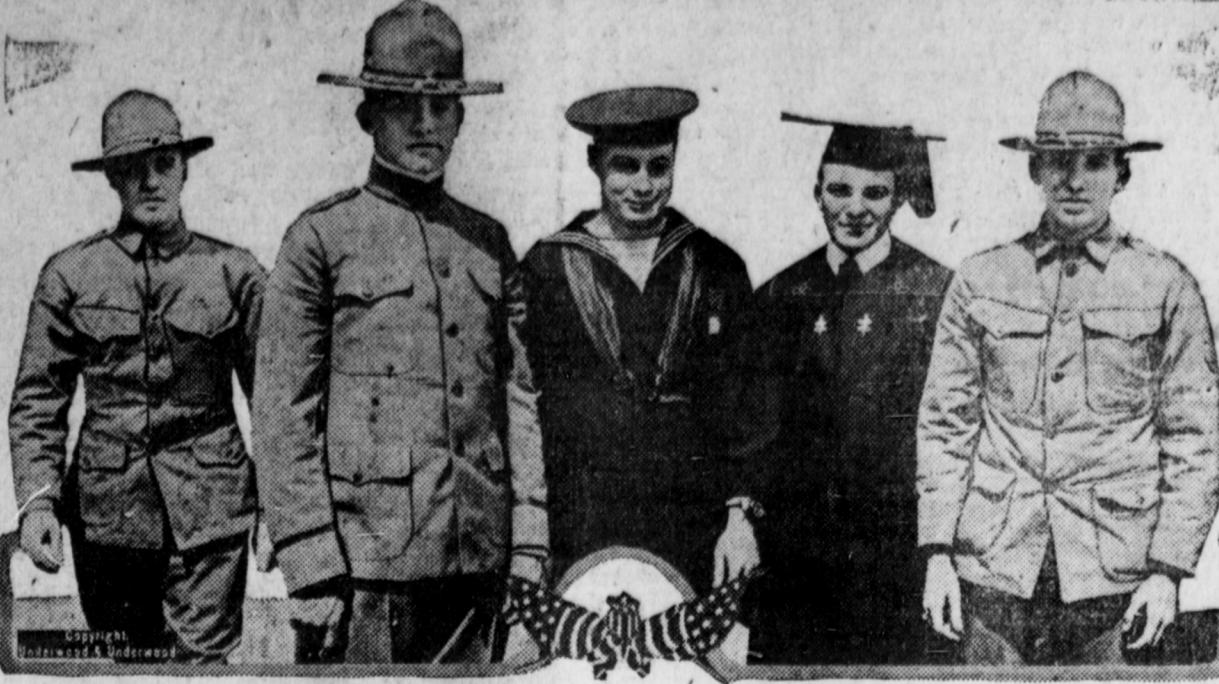

Obviously there will be high numbers drawn for which there are no corresponding registrants in small districts. The smallest district in the country is understood to have but 187 registrants and the largest about 7,000. Whenever a number beyond the total in any given district comes out it will operate as a blank for that district. Thus if the theory works evenly the larger districts will be constantly assessed in excess of the smaller on a pro-rata basis corresponding to their size.

The drawing probably will be held some time during the week of July 23.

DEATH OF MRS. BLAKELEY.

Mrs. Mary Ann Blakeley, widow of the late Joseph Blakeley, of Cerulean, died Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. M. Johnson, at Fort Thomas, Ky., of paralysis. She was 76 years old and is survived by five children. The deceased was a member of the Baptist church. The interment took place at Cerulean Thursday.

HARVARD ATHLETES ENLISTED FOR THE WAR

FERRELL'S BOYS PATRIOTIC

Approved The Postponement of Reunion and Purchase of Bonds.

Letters advising the members of the organization of Ferrell's Boys that a reunion would not be held next month were sent out last week, and Treasurer H. D. Wallace is receiving many letters with checks for the annual dues from the Boys in other States. All approve the idea of investing the cost of a reunion this year in liberty bonds, and some of them "chip in" to help out the bond fund. Col. M. H. Crump writes that his son is an officer in the Bowling Green Company, and Judge F. T. Glasgow writes that two of his sons are in the service of the country as officers. When the letters are all in, the military information contained in them will be transcribed to the permanent record book of the organization.

At the drawing numbers will be used ranging from number 1 up to a number corresponding to the total in the largest district of the country.

The first number drawn will determine what man in each district is to be taken first. If it be number 10, for example, it will mean that the man in each district holding local card number 10 will be called for examination before any of the other men in that district.

The second number drawn will determine what man in each district is to be taken second, and so on as long as men are needed. Those not needed for the first war army will retain their positions on the lists and these positions will determine the order of their liability when they are needed.

EACH LEARNS THE ORDER OF HIS ABILITY.

The drawing will be public and each number will be announced as it is drawn. At the offices of most local exemption boards the red ink numbers of the registrants already are posted, so that registrants may inform themselves before hand of their respective numbers. If they do, as soon as word of the drawing comes they will know just what order of liability they stand.

The drawing probably will be held some time during the week of July 23.

CANS RUN OUT.

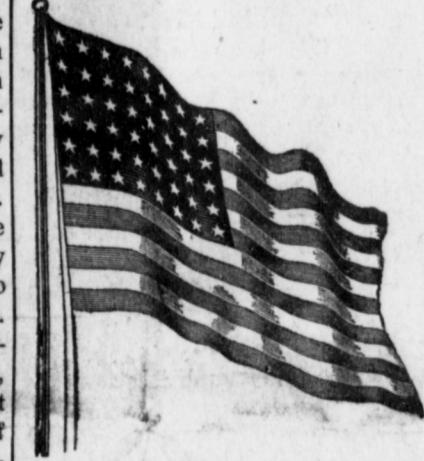

Mrs. Eloise Graves, County Canning Agent, makes the startling announcement that Christian's supply of cans is exhausted. The government has taken over the nation's canning stocks and requisitions must now be made on the Washington officials in order to get more cans. If more are wanted they should be ordered immediately from Mr. Quarles at Forbes' Hardware store, so that he can secure the cans in time.

One For Christian.

Mrs. Lucy L. Fisher, of this city, is among the list of Kentucky teachers who were issued life teachers' certificates by the State Board of Education at Frankfort this week. The board also approved a first-class county high school at Golden Pond, Trigg county.

OLD GLORY IS UNFURLED

Speeches and Flag Raising at Sixty School Houses in North Christian.

The flag raisings scheduled for yesterday throughout the northern part of the county, took place under most favorable conditions.

Cars were furnished by Jno. Thomas, Jno. Thurmond, Emmett Cooper, Frank Rives, W. R. Brumfield, Geo. McCord, M. C. Forbes, Judge Knight, Bailey Waller, Chester Fruitt, Herman Southall, J. H. Dillman, L. J. Harris, H. W. Linton, R. T. Stowe, and the parties left town early in the morning. At every one of the sixty points where flags were to be raised a large crowd was gathered and those candidates who made the trip had a glorious chance to let loose with their heavy artillery of oratory, and praise Old Glory and at the same time win a few votes. The program was carried out as previously published. All who took lunch with them had a good time and enjoyed a fine outing. Those who forgot all about things to eat kept on forgetting at noon and had a good time just the same.

ELKS REUNION

Over Thousand Kentucky Elks Will Invade Hopkinsville Next Month.

The Elks' State Reunion will be held in Hopkinsville August 14, 15 and 16. This will bring to our city over a thousand registered delegates, besides their wives and friends. A meeting of the local lodge was held Thursday night and plans were discussed as to the transportation and entertainment of the delegates.

The time to get ready for the reunion is limited, but every Elk in Hopkinsville will do his part and insure the best convention of Elks ever held in Kentucky.

Native of This County.

News has been received here of the death of Mrs. Walter Edwards at her home in Leesburg, Fla. The deceased was reared here. Death was caused by Bright's disease. She was 37 years old and is survived by her husband and seven children.

SEMINOLE IS ITS NAME

John J. Metcalfe's New Building Given an Indian Name.

John J. Metcalfe's new building on Seventh street, occupied by two automobile companies, has been officially named by the same committee that named his Chickasaw building, Jas. O. Cook, W. R. Bowles and Chas. M. Meacham. Carrying out the same idea of perpetuating the Indian names of the tribes that passed through this city in 1838 enroute to what is now Oklahoma, the committee unanimously selected the name "Seminole." Mr. Metcalfe will accordingly have the name placed conspicuously on the building at an early date. It is a one-story brick covering half a block, built for two garages. It adjoins Hotel Latham on the east.

AUTO COMPANY CHANGES HANDS

Thomas Wilson Buys Out the Hopkinsville Auto Co.

Thomas Wilson, one of the young est and most enterprising business men of the city, has bought out the Hopkinsville Auto company from Odie and Arthur Davis.

Mr. Wilson will retain the present name of the Auto company and will extend the business by putting in a large stock of accessories and supplies. He will pay particular attention to a thorough and efficient repair department for which he will secure a crew of expert workmen. The garage will be kept open all night so as to accommodate those motorists who may come in late at night.

COLORED ODD FELLOWS

State Convention of Colored Odd Fellows Closed Last Night.

Yesterday marked the closing of the colored Odd Fellows' convention in this city. The old officers were reelected for the coming year earlier in the week. Yesterday was the day of the big celebration. The band played and the lodges paraded all over town in dress uniform. Speeches galore were made and all the colored people in this region were in town to hear them, it seemed. The convention has been a success as far as the lodge members enjoying themselves was concerned. One feature of the convention was the competitive drills between the different lodges represented. In the parade these bodies executed fancy maneuvers and everybody enjoyed it immensely.

DRIVE WEDGE IN LEMBERG LINE

Russians Cross Lomnica and Capture Kalusz in Swift Norwestward Smash.

KORNILOFF PUSHES ON

Fast Fighting and Masterful Strategy Increase Hope for Capital's Capture.

Another step in the outflanking of the Austro-German armies protecting Lemberg on the east has been achieved by the Russians, who have crossed the River Lomnica and captured Kalusz. Beyond the Lomnica and south of the Dniester, west of Halicz, General Korniloff's advance continues.

When the Russians occupied Kalusz after forcing a passage of the Lomnica, they had advanced 20 miles northwestward from Stanislau in five days. In the same time the eighth Russian army took Halicz and crossed the Dniester there and began advance between Stanislau and Bohorodzay. A great wedge has been torn in the Austro-German line south of the Dniester and the army headquarters in that region was occupied in the taking of Kalusz.

In France the British have driven off German raiding parties near the Belgian coast and west of Queant, and southeast of Arras. The aerial activity on this part of the front has been more pronounced and ten German airplanes were driven down, six out of control, by British airmen, three of whom failed to return to their base. Behind the German line, near the coast in Flanders, British airmen have attacked military objectives, causing fires and explosions. Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the imperial German chancellor, reports in German newspapers say, has resigned.

The emperor has not yet acted on the resolution. Other reports are to the effect that the entire government will resign with the chancellor and that strong demands were being made that the government declare its stand concerning peace and its final reform. The crown council has met again, this time with German crown prince in attendance, and an imperial proclamation is expected for in some quarters.

TWO SLACKERS LODGED IN JAIL

Two Negro Eligibles Who Failed to Register.

Uncle Sam has reached out with the long arm of the Federal law and is snagging the slackers wherever he can be found. Deputy United States Marshal D. M. Richardson and Deputy Sheriff Joe Claxton went to the southern edge of the county Wednesday and brought back Will Cobb and Tilton Brewer, both colored, who are charged with failing to register on June 5. One of the men claimed that he was sick on registration day, but his excuse is not accepted by the U. S.

The negroes were arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Frank Cunningham and were held over to the December term of federal court at Bowling Green. Bond was fixed at $300 each, but as yet this has not been given and if not arranged the two will be confined in jail.

It is claimed that the authorities have several more names of alleged slackers and soon more may join these, the first arrested in this county.

DIES AT STATE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Mary C. Hunter, a native of Princeton, Ky., died at the Western State Hospital Wednesday. She was 66 years of age. The body was taken to Princeton for interment.

The August American Magazine

An August magazine is usually devoted to fiction, but the articles in the August American Magazine are fully up to the standard set in the other months. Thomas F. Wilson, the Chicago packer, tells how he picks and handles men; Jack Lait writes about how he feels at thirty-five; B. C.
Forbes contributes an article on the effect of war on business in England and the United States; Jane Cowl has something to say about the handicap of beauty in the theatre, and Grant-land Rice sings of "Sunny Tennessee" in verse. The fiction is at a high mark because it includes stories by such writers as William Dudley Pelley, H. C. Witwer, Ellis Parker Butler, Marjorie Benton Cooke, David Grayson. The Interesting People, Family Money, and "Sid Says" are filled with useful and entertaining hits, and the results of the contest "What I Would Sacrifice for My Country," are also published.

According to press reports in circulation, the destroyer Matto has discovered a German submarine base on the Brazilian coast near Santon.

Former Emperor Nicholas has appealed to the provisional government of Russia to allow him and the members of his family to acquire stock in the "Loan of Freedom."

A special registration for voters in the primary election not now registered will be held in the office of County Clerk Harris next Saturday,
July 21.

A new ritual, in course of preparation by a commission for three years, was submitted to the Grand Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks at Boston.

John M. Baer, of Fargo, a boy only 25 years old and a nephew of Jame Whitcombe Riley, has defeated the Republican nominee for Congress in a special election, running as an Independent.

Two-thirds of one per cent of the population will be the basis of conscription. Christian county, with 40, 000 population, will furnish 267 men approximately, and twice that number may be drawn to provide for exemptions.

The Senate Committee, in holding out a compromise has washed its hands of the troublesome prohibition issue, voting to put into the substitute the same regulations which the Senate already has approved. These would prohibit manufacture or importation of distilled liquors and also would provide for government acquisition of all liquor now in bond at cost, plus 10 per cent.

The directors of the St. Louis merchants' exchange have declared all trading in September corn off except where necessary to close contracts.
The maximum at which contracts are to be closed was fixed at $1.67. The directors also fixed the value of July corn at $1.70. Directors of the Chicago board of trade have also fixed a minimum price of $1.28 for December and May (1918) deliveries of corn.
No action was taken as to September.
The farmers can now look forward to the fixed price of $6.40 a barrel for their growing crops, unless the government takes a hand.

HIS HARD LUCK

By ADA TURBOT.

"Talking of circumstantial evidence," said the lawyer.

Of course, what the group had really been discussing was the war. But that didn't make any difference. Everybody knows that the man who looks out of the window is not paying the least attention to the topic under discussion.

"I'd never convict a man on circumstantial evidence," continued the lawyer.

"What's that got to do with the atomic theory of the universe?" asked the man who had been elucidating General Nivelle's tactics.

"You know my first name is Ivan," explained the window-gazer. "And that is rather an odd name in this country—perhaps one in a hundred thousand. The chances are if you would go out on Main street today and stop every man you met and ask him if his name was Ivan you would work a week before you'd find one. And yet there was an Ivan here once, somewhere, who came near getting me into a peck of trouble. He laid the foundation for my disbelief in circumstantial evidence."

"Well, tell it to us, brother, before we leave the church."

"I ought to tell you also that my wife's name is not Laura, so you'll get the fine points of the story. Please bear that in mind. Well, it happened this way. My wife had been wanting a gold watch for a long time and I had been promising her one for just as long a time. A day or two before her last birthday an old client of mine came in and paid me a hundred dollar fee that I had given up as lost, and so I determined to gratify my wife's long cherished desire and get her a gold watch for her birthday. So I began window shopping as a preliminary to the final transaction, and I was standing looking in at some fine bits of chromometrical bijouterie."

"All together, boys—beg pardon?"
—in a jewelry store window when a friend of mine who was in the pawnbroker's business came along and laid his hand upon my shoulder and asked me what I was looking for in the jewelry line. I told him, Well, he says, you come on down to my place. I have got several peck measurefuls of ladies' watches. Why pay a hundred dollars when I can sell you one for twenty-five, just as good, and give you a fine case to put it in and nobody will be any the wiser? Well, you know economy is the mother of inventions, or something of that sort, and we had potatoes to buy as well as watches for the home—anyway, I went along. It looked like he had bushels of them, all styles. I fumbled them over and picked out a handsome little full-jeweled, self-starter, with a little diamond in the center of the lid, and put it in one of those rich-looking purple velvet boxes with swansdown on the inside and brought it home and presented it to my wife on the morning of her birthday and all went as merry as a marriage bell, as John L. Sullivan used to say.

"That is to say, for about ten minutes, during which time my wife, with gushes of feminine rapture, examined the gift inside and outside—or, rather, outside and then inside. And when she got clear into the vitals of the pesky thing, I saw a change come over her countenance. But she didn't say anything—not just at that time. She went ahead thoughtfully eating her grapefruit—the event occurred at breakfast—while I sipped my coffee and read the sport page. Then I heard my wife ask, with a gentle purr
in her voice:

"Ivan, who is Laura?"

"Laura? What Laura? Don't know any immediate party by that name."

"Then tell me what this means," she says, and she handed me over the birthday gift with the inside lid, next to the machinery open. Would you believe it, boys?"

Chorus: "No, we certainly will not."
Engraved on that inside lid, in letters of fire, they seemed to me, were the words: 'From Ivan to Laura, Christmas, 1913.' I tried to explain. I owed up to the truth about getting it by chance in a pawnbroker's shop.
I talked fast and earnestly, but, say, I had some job putting it over that that wasn't a watch that I had given and got back from another girl. Just think of my landing on that particular watch out of several bushels of them in that pawnshop—just think of the mere chance of that pawnbroker's happening along just as I was about to step into that jewelry store to buy one—why, the chances are one in a million that I'd land on a watch with the name Ivan in it. Just fancy—and that's the reason that I'd never convict a man on circumstantial evidence."

"But, say, Ivan," said one of the group, "don't you remember that girl that was cashier in the Pink Lobster Cabaret? Her name was Laura. The world is full of coincidences. Ah, yes."

Economic Suggestion.

During some excavations in a district of historical interest some workmen came upon a stone which was shaped very like a coffin. They thereupon began to discuss coffins, and an Irishman remarked:

"Why don't they use stone coffins now? They'd save a lot o' money!"

"Why? How would they? They'd be most difficult to make?" said another workman.

"Oh, but," said the Irishman, "you see, a stone coffin would last a dead man all his life!"

A NERVOUS WRECK

From Three Years' Suffering, Says
Cardui Made Her Well.

Texas City, Tex.—In an interesting statement, Mrs. G. H. Schill, of this town, says: "For three years I suffered untold agony with my head. I was unable to do any of my work."

I just wanted to sleep all the time, for that was the only ease I could get, when I was asleep. I became a nervous wreck just from the awful suffering with my head.

I was so nervous that the least noise would make me jump out of my bed. I had no energy, and was unable to do anything. My son, a young boy, had to do all my household duties.

I was not able to do anything until I took Cardui. I took three bottles in all,
and it surely cured me of those awful headaches. That has been three years ago, and I know the cure is permanent, for I have never had any headache since taking Cardui. NC-134

Virtue.

"I cannot praise a fugitive and cloistered virtue, unexercised and unbreathed, that never sallies out and sees her adversary, but slinks out of the race where that immortal garland is to be run for, not without dust and heat."—John Milton.

Golden Rule for Telephone.

There is no hope of teaching the elements of courtesy to a telephone, but the application of the Golden Rule by those who have to use the dumb things might soften some of their irrepressible and irritating idiosyncrasies.—Minneapolis Tribune.

Singing Men Are Fighting Men.

The power of music has long been extolled by people who have made that field of art their chosen work. What is of unusual interest, however, is the fact that an appreciation of its value as a builder of strength and courage was voiced by an officer in the army. At the opening day of the officers' training camp at Plattsburgh, N. Y., General Bell, one of the officers at the head of the training corps, made an address before the men gathered there, emphasizing the seriousness of the work undertaken by them. During the course of the talk he made the following statements:

"A soldier must think only of his duty and do it in a way that all who survive him will be proud of the way he gave up his life. You know whom we are going to fight. German soldiers sing while they march. I want you to see that our army beats them at their own game, for singing men are fighting men."

Tongs for the Greedy Fish.

The fish that swallows bait and hook is not a joy to the angler. Getting the hook out is no easy task. But the task is simplified by using a handy device just invented and described in the Popular Science Monthly.

The device is made from one piece of elastic steel wire bent in the shape of a pair of tongs. The ends of the two arms of the tongs are sharpened to a point. When a fish has been caught which has swallowed the hook, the arms of the tongs are compressed and their ends are inserted in the fish's mouth. The arms will then spring apart and hold the jaws open.

Distinguished Visitors.

"Have you ever had any distinguished visitors in this town?"

"I should say so, stranger. Only the other day the sheriff of the neighboring county stopped off here on his way to the state prison with one of the most notorious safe-blowers in the country."

Decidedly Different.

Reformer—Things will be different when we have taken graft out of politics.

Machine politician—They certainly will. Then the office will have to seek the man.—Judge.

Difficult Achievement.

"Young friends," said a member of the board of trustees, who was addressing the school, "let me urge upon you the necessity of not only reading good books, but also of owning them, so that you may have access to them at all times. Why, when I was a young man I used frequently to work all night to earn money to buy books, and then got up before daylight and read them."

Natural Aristocracy.

The democratic element in modern society is undoubtedly gaining in strength every year, and there is no good reason for lamenting its advance. But it will never do away with the natural aristocracy which has made skill in the conduct of business the endowment or the acquisition of a few. The weakness of co-operative production thus far has been its gross undervaluation of the manager.—Nicholas Paine Gilman.

She Put the Toe in Ptomaine.
A seven-year-old Columbus girl came home from school and reported one of her classmates had hurt his toe and was unable to be at school. "It's very serious," she said, "and they are afraid he is going to have ptomaine poisoning."—Indianapolis News.

MRS. KIESO SICK SEVEN MONTHS

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Aurora, Ill.—"For seven long months I suffered from a female trouble, with severe pains in my back and sides until I became so weak I could hardly walk from chair to chair, and got so nervous I would jump at the slightest noise. I was entirely unfit to do my housework. I was giving up hope of ever being well, when my sister asked me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took six bottles and today I am a healthy woman able to do my own housework. I wish every suffering woman would try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and find out for themselves how good it is"—Mrs. CARL A. KIESO, 698 North Ave., Aurora, Ill.

The great number of unsolicited testimonies on file at the Pinkham Laboratory, many of which are from time to time published by permission, are proof of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, in the treatment of female ills.

Every ailing woman in the United States is cordially invited to write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for special advice. It is free, will bring you health and may save your life.

A Patriotic Indian.

In a speech in New York the other night, Red Fox James, a Blackfoot Indian, roused a big audience when he pleaded that his race be given a place in the war.

"My own people, the North American Indian, has heard the call to arms," he said, "but you will not let us answer. Do you not need us in this terrible conflict?"

Are we to remain inactive when 50,000 Indians are ready to serve as cavalry?

"From all over the west we stand ready to spring into the saddle. We stand ready to protect the 1,400 miles of border between the United States and Mexico, 60,000 men who know a horse as no white man knew it; men who can live where no white man has ever lived; 50,000 Indians whose hearts are in a cause, as our hearts are in this cause, would die for it as for no other nation."

"Mr. Secretary (turning to Mr. Baker) call us to arms. Let us guard and fight for our country."

Advertising Rates.

At the recent meeting of the Kentucky Press Association it was unanimously agreed that the newspapers of Kentucky were entitled to a better advertising rate and more advertising from the foreign field and that the only way to secure these two things was by co-operation and organization. An advertising committee was appointed to classify the newspapers that belong to the Press association according to circulation and the employment of the American Press association or some other reliable agency to represent them as far as foreign advertising is concerned, except such contracts as have already been entered into and such advertising as the publisher may direct with the seller.

To carry out the suggestions of the Press association, members of the committee named have agreed upon the following tentative plan, and ask co-operation by giving the information desired for classification. All papers having a circulation of over 500 and under 750 shall receive 7½ cents per inch net for plate advertising; over 750 and under 1,000, ten cents an inch net; over 1,000, and under 1,500, 12½ cents net; over 1,500 and under 2,000, 15 cents an inch net; over 2,000 and under 2,500, 17 cents an inch net; over 2,500, 20 cents an inch net.

White Man's Justice.

A native was charged before a Cape Town court a few days ago with house-breaking, but although the evidence was strong, the jury found him not guilty. In discharging him, the judge said: "The jury has exemplified on another occasion how the white man deals with justice. We may all feel you are the man who broke this place open, but we are going to let you go rather than break our own law, and our own law is that the evidence must be conclusive against the man; otherwise he is not convicted. You are discharged."

Probably Warmer.

The vicar of the parish, when out walking one day, met a former lady member of his congregation.

After exchanging salutations, he observed: "I don't see your husband with you so much as when you were on your honeymoon; has he grown cool?"

"Not if what you preach be true," was the reply. "He is dead!"—London Tit-Bits.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by the inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, the ear will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Cataract, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, if it can be cured by the use of Hall's Ear Cure. Send for circulars free.

Hall's Ear Cure is the only one that cures deafness.

Kentucky Will Be Well Represented In France

Approximately 5,500 Guards- Men From This State to Go to France.

Washington, July 13.—The call to colors by the President of all national guardsmen means that Kentucky will send approximately 5,500 guardsmen to France. The Kentucky and Indiana troops will come in with the last of three contingents of state forces.

Immediately on mobilizing they will as soon as practicable be sent to the Southern training camp. With Kentucky's state guard forces, representatives in the regular army and quota from men chosen through the selective draft system, the Bluegrass state will be generously and well represented at the front.

Indiana whose troops will be attached in regular service to the same general organization as Kentucky's will have approximately 6,250 members of the guard on duty.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Will Send Committee to Urge Rev. Smith to Return Here.

Wednesday night at prayer meeting at the Ninth Street Christian church a congregational meeting was held, at which it was unanimously decided to call Rev. Harry D. Smith, of Enid, Okla., to the pastorate of the church here. Mr. Smith was for 18 years pastor of the local church, and all the people of this community earnestly hope he may be brought back to our city.

At present Dr. Smith is connected with Phillip's University at Enid, where he teaches the bible and preaches to the students. In response to a call from the church he stated by telegram that it would be almost impossible for him to arrange to come back to Hopkinsville, but the local church will not take no for an answer. It has been arranged to send a committee composed of a representative of the deacons and elders, and also from the congregation, to go, at no expense to the church, to see Dr. Smith personally, and talk the matter over with him. The committee will probably be composed of Messrs. George C. Long, D. D. Cayce, T. J. McReynolds and W. R. Brumfield.

The Lord of Life and Salvation expects every follower of his to be in his place next Sunday. He provides for no exemption, except in the case of sickness or bodily ailments. The slacker will certainly be brought to judgment, and there will be no escape.

"SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK"

The Saving Habit

No matter who you are, where you are, or how old you are, it is your duty to save money.

Are you rich now? You may become poor if you don't save.

Are you poor? You may become rich if you save money and invest it wisely.

If you already have capital, economy will preserve it for your use in times of greater need. If you have none, you can acquire it by the same means.

Your whole mind need not be set continuously and exclusively upon the pursuit of wealth. There are other things in life as desirable as making money.

Nevertheless, it is right for you to be as careful of your expenditures as you can be without being miserly or close.

Youth is emphatically the time to begin to save, but it is never too late to start.

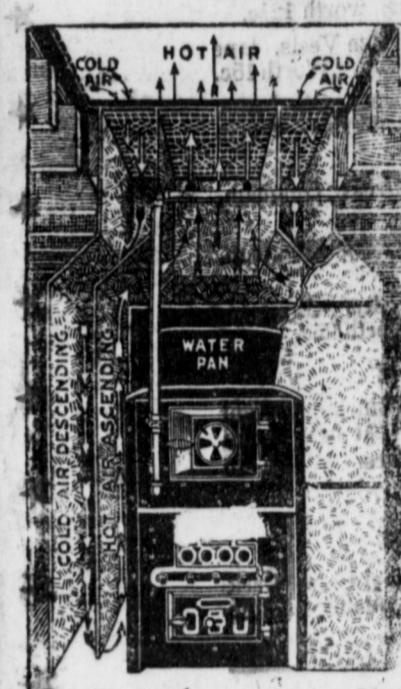

Indeed, the main object of saving in early life is not so much the actual amount saved, but it is the foundation of the habit of economy.

We would like to have you have your savings account with us.

"To Get into a Scrape." The expression "to get into a scrape" referred at one time to any one who fell into a deer-run in the forest. When deer run wild in the forest they frequently cut deep gullies among the trees, due to their constant running backward and forward over the same ground. The cuts so made in the forest were known as "deer scrapes," and it sometimes happened that a woodman fell into them.

Dante Used Few Superlatives. A contributor to the Italian review, Minerva, with time to spare, has made a count of substantives and adjectives in the works of Virgil, Dante and Leonardo. In the second book of the Aeneid, which contains the Fall of Troy, there are 1,637 nouns and 589 adjectives. In Dante's "Divina Commedia," out of the 6,215 adjectives which it contains, only 17 are in the superlative.

BACK TO ORIGIN OF SLANG

Words That Are Considered Staid and Dignified Have a Meaning Known Only to a Few Users.

Original slang is often poetic. Perhaps the best way to prove this to the professors will be to remind them that some of their own worthiest and most classic and respectable words are themselves, if we go back to their origin, just the same slangy vagabonds as these. Examine, for instance, the word inveigh. Max Eastman writes in the New Republic. There is a staid and dignified term, fit to be incorporated in a president's inaugural: "I will not at this time inveigh against the custom prevalent among my contemporaries." You can imagine how it would sound. And yet, poetically, what does that word mean? It means "into." Vehi means to sail. "I will not at this time sail into my contemporaries!" Here is another Latin word—insult. In its origin it means to jump on—exactly what is said everywhere by the schoolchildren of America when the appropriate situation arises.

Diatribe is a pretentious term. It implies something more thorough than an insult, a more lasting denunciation. You not only "jump on" somebody, but you "rub it in." We used to say of a crazy person that he was "off his trolley." And the word delirious meant substantially the same thing in an earlier stage of civilization. It came from the Latin words de and liria, which mean off or out of your furrow. The word precocious means pre-cooked, or, as we say, half baked. Capricious means like a goat, and the slang correlatives here are innumerable.

Imagine some worthy, refined and graduated soul being offended by a young upstart and responding somewhat as follows: "It seems to me you are a trifle capricious. I would hardly expect any one to inveigh against me in this delirious manner, delivering such a diatribe. Is it essential to your precocity to insult your elders?" And then suppose we translated this somewhat according to the etymological dictionary: "You goat! You must be off your trolley to sail into me like that and then rub it in! Just because you're half-baked you needn't think you can jump on your elders!"

Where His Pay Goes.

A Pittsburgher, who has been watching the diet squad eat and grow fat on 25 cents a day, writes as follows: "Both my wife and myself have followed the published reports of the different diet squads and have come to the conclusion that they have not succeeded in telling the average American housekeeper anything. I occupy one of the munificently paid positions of railway mail clerk and get the enormous salary of $1,200 per annum. Now, let us see what becomes of that wealth. First there is the item of rent, and, do what I can, in this city we cannot get anything either decent or in an American locality for less than $25 a month; fuel, light and carfare eats up $5; insurance, wife, $1,000, myself, $2,000, and accident insurance comes to $8, making a total of $38, leaving bills, etc., for a family of eight persons. That's not quite $2 per week for each, and as none of them is yet a wage-earner, it is easy to see that the most rigid economy has to be practiced by my wife, to say nothing of myself. Of course we would like to have more of this world's goods, but not at the expense of the 'kiddies,' for they are worth more than material wealth."—Pittsburgh Leader.

Love's Labor Lost.

E. Lemerle, a mariner, left his home in France for America, where he hoped to earn enough money to support his wife and children in better style than at home. After sailing around the Horn to Portland, Ore., he could get no better job than washing dishes in a hospital. He made $20 a month, and sent $16 of it back to France. Out of the remaining $4 he set aside regular sums to pay for his family's passage to this country, and for their home. One day he cut his wrist while at work, and blood poisoning cost him the use of his right hand. But he kept at his dishwashing, and did odd jobs outside of the hospital. At last he had saved enough to furnish a little home, and he sent word to his wife by a friend who went to visit his native village in France. The friend wrote back that she had told him "I don't care for a husband who is a cripple."

Epitaph of Romance.

Romance may be alive under the glare of the bright lights of the great cities, but in this quaint old mountain town its swan song has been sung. Witness the following:

A young woman employee of a New York publishing house wrote her name on an inside page of a magazine published by the company. The magazine fell into the hands of A. B. Watson, twenty-one years old, of this place, who is considered matrimonial timber. Watson wrote the young woman, Did he propose marriage? Not on your life. He told her she should be ashamed of herself for seeking acquaintance in this manner.—Weldon, W. Va., Dispatch in Chicago Tribune.

Boll Weevils on Skates.

A distinguished Memphis lawyer, who has been down in Mississippi during the severest part of the recent cold spell, is authority for the statement that he saw boll weevils skating on the ice on the ponds and keeping themselves cool with palm-leaf fans. This rather contradicts the idea that frost will kill this ugly pest.—Memphis

SELF HELPS FOR THE NEW SOLDIER

Practical Home Hints on Military Training That Will Stand You in Good Stead When You Are Called to the Colors

By A UNITED STATES ARMY OFFICER.

Copyright, 1917, by the Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

THE FUNDAMENTAL POSITION OF THE SOLDIER.

The young soldier, before he can handle a gun, must learn how to handle himself. He must learn that there are right ways and wrong ways of carrying his arms and legs, just as there are with a rifle. He must learn how to stand, how to walk. The boy on the street usually stands on his heels, with his shoulders slouched over, his stomach thrust forward, and his spine curving in and out like an hour-glass. Literally, he has no "back-bone." Back-bone is the first essential of the soldier.

The position of a soldier does not require that he shoves his chest ahead of him like a bay-window, or stiffens his stiffness; hips level and drawn back slightly; body erect and resting equally on the hips; chest lifted and arched; shoulders square and falling equally; arms and hands hanging naturally, thumb along the seam of the trousers. (In past times, the little finger was placed along the seam of the trousers with the palm turned out, producing an artificial rigidity which does not belong to the modern American soldier.) The head must be erect and squarely to the front, chin drawn in so that the axis of the head is vertical, with the eyes also straight to the front.

This is the fundamental position of the soldier. It is the position of attention, the basic command to which every soldier responds. It is from the position of attention that all movements of the soldier proceed. It follows that until a soldier has mastered the art, or science, of standing at attention easily and naturally, he cannot properly execute the movements of the drill. It is therefore highly important that the young soldier school himself to stand properly, or at attention, until such time as that pose becomes unconsciously as much a part of his being as his arms or legs.

A man who can instantly assume the position of attention and hold it until otherwise ordered has taken a very important step toward becoming a good soldier. He has learned a big lesson in physical, nervous and mental discipline.

Women as Fortune Builders.

I observe, and you will notice, that notwithstanding the great incursion of women of late years, into one or another department of business, they are not of much account as fortune builders. Some of them earn or make a good deal of money, but they seldom get rich by their own exertions, and nearly all the rich women have inherited their fortunes from men. Moreover, the women who are most successful as moneymakers are not, as a rule, the most successful as women. The women seem to be a consecrated sex, too valuable to be employed in mere money getting. Vast numbers of them earn a living—sometimes a good one—and have to; but few of them get rich. It is common for a young man to start out deliberately to accumulate a fortune. It is very uncommon for a young woman to do so. She is much more likely to accumulate a young man.—E. S. Martin in Atlantic.

Jewels Set in Molybdenum.

A New York jeweler is making settings for diamonds out of molybdenum, instead of platinum. The latter metal has become so expensive and the government needs so much of it that its use in jewelry is being discouraged. The molybdenum settings look well and cost far less than the platinum.

Produce Infertile Eggs!

Infertile Eggs Keep Best and Market Best in Summer Heat

Fertile Eggs Spoil Quickly in Summer Weather

FERTILE EGGS COST THE FARMER AN ENORMOUS SUM EACH YEAR

Farmers lose millions of dollars annually from bad methods of producing and handling eggs. One-third of this loss is preventable, because it is due to the partial hatching of fertile eggs which have been allowed to become warm enough to begin to incubate.

The rooster makes the egg fertile The fertile egg makes the blood ring

You can save the money now lost from blood rings by keeping the male bird from your flock after the hatching season is over.

The rooster does not help the hens to lay. He merely fertilizes the germ of the egg. The fertile germ in hot weather quickly becomes a blood ring, which spoils the egg for food and market. Summer heat has the same effect on fertile eggs as the hen or incubator.

INFERTILE EGGS WILL NOT BECOME BLOOD RINGS

After the hatching season cook, sell or pen your rooster. Your hens not running with a male bird will produce infertile eggs—quality eggs that keep best and market best.

Rules for Handling Eggs on the Farm—

Heat is the great enemy of eggs, both fertile and infertile. Farmers are urged to follow these simple rules, which cost nothing but time and thought and will add dollars to the poultry yard returns:

1. Keep the nests clean; provide one nest for every four hens.
2. Gather the eggs twice daily.
3. Keep the eggs in a cool, dry room or cellar.
4. Market the eggs at least twice a week.
5. Sell, kill, or confine all male birds as soon as the hatching season is over.

NOTICE Valuable published information on the raising and care of poultry and eggs and individual advice on these subjects may be obtained by writing to the Bureau of Animal Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Teaching Child to Read.

A child is best taught to read in the natural method, by means of objects. His words or short sentences containing the same words repeated in different connection, are written on the blackboard, and he quickly learns to recognize these and to read at sight, first words in script, then in type. When he is made to copy the blackboard words at each lesson, he learns to read and write both at the same time.

Where the Real Danger Lies.

A Boston physician has sounded the warning that there is more or less danger in wearing clothes. There may be, but the most danger lies in the path of a man who attempts to trip merrily through this life clad in filtered sunshine and a two days' growth of whiskers.

What They May Claim.

Pennsylvania claims to contain the Hercules of the nation as well as the Vulcan. New York will no doubt put in a claim as the Midas of the land, Washington as the Jupiter, Boston as the Minerva, and Oskaloosa, Iowa, as the Venus. And Chicago, with ten changes of weather at each performance, will put in its claim as the Mercury.

GEN. KORNILOFF RUSSIAN HERO

From Log Cabin to Master General in Span of Brief Brilliant Career.

Petrograd, July 13.—Russia is ringing with the name of the latest hero of the war, Lieut. Gen. L. G. Korniloff, victor of Galicia, whose astonishing feat first proved that the new advance is no mere flash in the pan. Gen. Korniloff is the most daring, chivalrous and scholarly officer in the army. From a romantic rise from humble origin Russian history has only one parallel—that is Michel Vassilievitch Lomonosof, fisherman's son, poet, philosopher, creator of the modern Russian language, in the first half of the eighteenth century.

From log cabin to general is the literal text of the chronicle of Gen. Korniloff's career. Born 46 years ago, son of a need-stricken Karalinsk Cossack in western Siberia, who later reared a large family on a pittance gained as the village clerk, young Korniloff early began rough forest work. At the age of nine he received his first instruction. When barely 13 he, by his own exertions and all-night studies, qualified to enter the Siberian cadet corps, largely composed of sons of local magnates. Thanks again to his own efforts, this indomitable Siberian pioneer character obtained free training at the Michailovsk Artillery school, where his wonderful mathematical faculties brought approval from the authorities, even though he was suspected of being a revolutionist.

DEFTLY COVERS RETREAT.

Next Gen. Korniloff was an officer in the guards, and being penniless, he was obliged to serve in Turkestan. In the Japanese war he attained the rank of colonel and was entrusted with a desperate mission—that of covering the retreat from Mukden of one of Gen. Kuropatkin's shattered and beaten armies. It was executed with such resolution and skill that he was given the St. George Cross. Later he traveled through Turkestan, the Caucasus and Europe, studying, observing and writing invaluable books on Turkestan and the countries of central Asia.

Amazing to strangers is his gift for languages. He speaks not only all European tongues but Persian, Chinese and every dialect of central Asia.

In Galicia in 1915 he repeated the Mukden feat, covering under an unexampled month-long hail of Austro-German shells, wherein his own forces broke through the encircling foe, but himself was wounded and taken prisoner by the Austrians.

ESCAPES AUSTRIAN PRISON CAMP.

The enemy press related that their generals were so impressed with Gen. Korniloff's accomplishments and noble bearing that the return of his sword showed greater honor to Russia's admirable Crichton than to their own victorious commander. His restless spirit did not long remain captive. After a daring flight from an Austrian prison camp, an astonishing adventure, he reached Russia.

At the outbreak of the revolution, he was invited to command the troops of Petrograd, implying full confidence in revolutionary Russia. When the disorders arose, Gen. Korniloff, fearing the necessity of repression, resigned, saying he would rather shoot the foe than his own countrymen. He took command of the eighth army whose brilliant exploits in due primarily to him.

Palmer Caught.

Alyie Palmer, alleged slayer of Ed Settle, was captured late Tuesday in Doniphan, Mo., and has been turned over to Constable Forrest Shelton, of Mayfield.

MANNED BY CREW OF DEAD MEN

British Patrol Boat Finds An Enemy Ship Float Off the Irish Coast.

Galveston, Tex., July 13.—A German submarine of the most modern type floating a short distance off the Irish coast, every member of the crew having been suffocated, was recently picked up by British patrol boat and towed to port, according to the captain of a British steamer which arrived at a gulf port. According to the captain's story, the crew is supposed to have been killed by the sudden formation of deadly gas while the U-boat was submerged. The hatches were down when the party from the patrol boat boarded the undersea craft.

PURELY PERSONAL.

John E. Byars and Mrs. Byars are visiting in Knoxville, Tenn.

Miss Myrtle Gresham, of Birmingham, Ala., is visiting relatives here. Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Hiser, who had been visiting Mrs. Hiser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Diuguid, returned to their home in Louisville yesterday. They were accompanied by Mrs. Chas. L. Daniel and son.

Miss Bobby Terry has gone to Nashville to spend a few days with her brother, Gano Terry, who is in a hospital at that place, suffering from an abscess caused by a fall sustained here some years ago.

Judge Polk Cansler has gone to Chicago to visit his daughter, Mrs. Koenig. From there he will go to Enid, Okla., to spend several weeks with his son, Charlie Cansler. He will be absent from the city until fall.

Roosevelt Slaps Gompers.

Denial by Samuel Gompers that trade unions had any share in the race riots at East St. Louis, which was met by a vigorous denunciation of the murder of helpless negroes by Col. Theodore Roosevelt brought a tumultuous demonstration at a meeting held in New York in honor of the Russian Mission. Col. Roosevelt brought his open hand down on Mr. Gompers' shoulder and said that he would put down the laboring man when there was murder.

Double Number.

Unofficially it was indicated that 687,000 is the number of men to be selected for the first nation war army from the ten millions registered June 5. Probably twice that number of names will be drawn, as the number of exemptions to be allowed is estimated at 50 per cent. The drawing may be Saturday.

A Greek Patriot.

San Francisco, July 11.—John Lampos, a young Greek, gave the Red Cross his touring car, his gold watch, his bank deposit of $521 and $25 in cash. Having thus, he said, disposed of all his worldly possessions, he enlisted in the army.

"That's all, have," he said, "and I am glad to give it."

Lexington Elopement.

The elopement and marriage in Jeffersonville of Frazer LeBus, 19-year-old son of Clarence LeBus, prominent tobacco and business man of Lexington and Miss Elvina Stoll, 16-year-old daughter of the Lexington capitalist, John Stoll, has been revealed.

The couple who are members of the Bluegrass small set, were married Monday by Magistrate Frank M. Ogde after eloping in an automobile. They spent the night in Louisville and then returned to Lexington.

Narrow Escape From Death While Working on Vault.

Tom Key, a stone worker, narrowly missed death when he fell from the top of the new vaults being built at the court house Thursday. He was standing about twenty feet from the ground assisting in hoisting some large stones by means of a derrick. In some manner one of the ropes holding the derrick slipped, causing Mr. Key to be pitched several feet into the air and down among a mass of timber and broken rock. The derrick toppled over and fell within a few feet of where he was lying unconscious. If it had struck him death would have been instantaneous. Mr. Key was severely cut and bruised by his fall and was rendered unconscious for sometime. A physician dressed his wounds and he was sent home where he is doing nicely.

MRS FOWLER'S ADDRESS.

MINDS OF DIFFERENT SIZES

Some No Bigger Than Chigger's Instep—Then There's Master Mind Encountered in Moving Pictures.

Minds are small but powerful little devices which, since their discovery, have been confined to cells—brain cells. In view of this fact it is difficult to understand how the expression "an open mind" sprang into being. Minds are useless contrivances, for the greater part, and are never in perfect working order, but most people who are never satisfied to let well enough alone are constantly trying to improve upon theirs. Strange to say, the fellow who is working the hardest to improve his mind generally has one that needs less working on than 99 per cent of the ones he sees about him.

Minds are of various dimensions, ranging in size from those no bigger than a chigger's instep on up to the master mind, which is encountered only in story fiction and the moving pictures. Through a wise provision of Nature, who makes the distribution, a guarantee of satisfaction goes with each mind, leaving no man to hanker after the other fellow's, but being contented to scrub along with the one he has.

Mind is the opposite of matter, but that doesn't matter to the fellow who has something the matter with his mind, as he doesn't mind such a matter. Minds are sometimes very useful for thinking purposes and should be encouraged in this respect.—Indianapolis Star.

ANIMALS HAVE NO INSTINCT

Acquire Their Knowledge of What Is Good to Eat and What Is Harmful by Experience.

"Animals seem to acquire their knowledge of poisonous plants from experience, and not by any innate instinct; our domestic animals, when transported to other countries, at first eat poisonous plants, which they learn afterwards to avoid. Snell observed that strange sheep frequently fell victims to the poisonous hellebore that grows abundantly in the valley of the Ahn, but that it is carefully avoided by the sheep of the neighborhood, writes Raymond Crawford in the London Lancet.

The same fields as their mothers, are far more prone than they to eat poisonous plants. Morgan concluded from observations of feeding young birds with various caterpillars, beetles and worms, that, in the absence of parental guidance, young birds have to learn by experience what is good to eat and what is not, and that they have no instinctive aversions. At first they peck at everything, but once they have found that a particular thing is distasteful or harmful, in future they entirely avoid it."

Mr. Farmer:

THE AMERICAN FARMER CAN WIN OR LOSE THIS WAR.

This sounds extravagant, but it is true for this reason:

The present world's supply of food stuffs is so far below normal, that between our own appetites and those of our European Allies, somebody is going hungry next fall; UNLESS this year we produce enormously greater herds of beef cattle and much larger cereal yields.

Whether WE and our Allies have plenty next fall depends upon YOU seeing to it that your herds are at least doubled this season and your production increased.

While planning to add more head to your herd, don't make the mistake of failing to supply storage facilities for its winter feed. Nothing is better for stock in winter than SILAGE.

The TECKTONIUS Silo costs but little when compared with what it will bring our Nation and You from cattle supported by the husks and stalks of this year's corn crop.

The Government is providing that the present prices on stock are protected. It now lies with you to do the rest.

There is no use mincing matters—it's up to YOU to strain every effort in furnishing the Nation more meat and grain than ever before.

We're in the war now to finish. "An army crawls upon its belly" and it's up to YOU to see that this belly is kept full.

Buy a TECKTONIUS Silo today and help win the war.
